

Manifesting My Most Abundant Year Yet - Sleep Subliminal

I am about to step into the most abundant season of my life.

When I look at my current reality, I already have so much abundance I can feel grateful for.

I've never had abundance flow into my life as easily as it is doing now.

When I look at my life, I really am the definition of rich.

Because being rich to me means so many other things than just money. It means health, love, peace, space, joy, gratitude, creativity...

Everyday I'm seeing financial abundance show up for me more than ever before

This year is the year I finally become the Money Queen I know I can be.

Over the next twelve months, my bank account is going to see more money flow in and STAY in than ever before.

Money gets to flow to me with ease and calmness.

The more I relax, trust myself, and follow what lights me up, the more abundant my life becomes.

Every time I nourish my mind, body and soul, I become magnetic to abundance and opportunities.

I am so ready for unexpected income, opportunities, and lucky moments to find me.

I'm not just the person who attracts abundance this year, I'm the person who feels confident in holding it and letting it sit in my bank account.

This year I get to really enjoy my money.

I am releasing the old stories about money being hard, heavy, or stressful to manage.

I am done with playing small to please everyone around me.

I am a magnet to abundance.

My relationship with money is becoming calmer, healthier, and more empowering every single day.

My life is starting to feel rich in so many different ways.

I am finally entering the most abundant season of my entire life and the Universe can't wait to send more money, love, great health, connection, creativity and joy my way.